Context

Administered by the World Bank, the “Convergence” Program has been set up to promote the build-up of analytical capabilities in financial economics, banking and finance and legal and regulatory matters within the civil society of its seven countries of operations in South-East Europe.

To achieve this objective, it uses two instruments: 1) to undertake analytical studies of micro-structural issues that, if properly regulated, could impact the growth of financial sector intermediation; 2) to bring the results of these studies and other sponsored by other institutions, supported by a specific “Convergence” opinion, to the attention of authorities for decision-making after open public consultations.

Convergence has found common understanding and willingness among the Albanian financial industry stakeholders to start shaping an evidence-based and proportionate regulatory-making method to pursue the modernization of Albania’s financial sector as it strives to converge towards the EU Single Financial Market practices. The Special Projects Initiative is intended to support this evolution.
